Loved and revered worldwide for many decades, Tangerine Dream were true pioneers of ambient and electronic music. Their influence is massive – and the albums they recorded for Virgin Records between 1973 and 1979 remain classics. This box set is the definitive statement of this period in their history.

The albums 'Phaedra', 'Rubycon', 'Ricochet', 'Stratosfear', 'Encore', 'Cyclone' and 'Force Majeure' are all present and newly remastered in stereo – from the original first-generation master tapes.

The box set also includes two Blu-Ray discs featuring new 5.1 surround sound versions of 'Phaedra', 'Ricochet' and the full soundtrack to 'Oedipus Tyrannus' – all mixed by the esteemed musician/producer Steven Wilson.

Visual Blu-Ray material included is the surviving 35-minute footage of the BBC's Tangerine Dream concert at Coventry Cathedral, and the previously unreleased fascinating full German television documentary 'Signale aus der Schwäbischen Strasse', which features Edgar Froese, Chris Franke and Peter Baumann performing live, plus interviews with the band, John Peel and Richard Branson.

Further stereo audio content featured are full concerts at The Victoria Palace Theatre, London, The Rainbow Theatre, London and the Royal Albert Hall, London, plus an audio-only version of the BBC Coventry Cathedral concert.

Last but not least are two CDs of stereo out-takes from the 'Phaedra' sessions at The Manor Studios, Oxfordshire.

'In Search of Hades: The Virgin Recordings 1973–1979' is available to pre-order. <http://www.groove.nl/index3.html>

And we have added a new artist to our catalog, Eindhoven based The Amnis Initiative. The musical brand of Dutch composer Dennis Lodewijks. Dennis' background in electronic music and sound design dates back to the early nineties when he developed music and sound effects for computer games, leading to roles in surround sound effects design for industrial design exhibitions, sound production for various short films, soundscape composition projects for The Biggest Visual Powershow editions in Amsterdam and Solverein and the release of a number of succesful stock music recordings. He began releasing music to the public as The Amnis Initiative in 2009. Space Anthem Sail The Cosmic Ocean (2010) became a hit on YouTube with well over half a million plays and counting.

E-LIVE 2019 - 26th of October - The Enck / Oirschot

We are proud to announce the first 2 Artist for this years E-Live 2019.

Rob Papen

He became world famous with the Group NOVA and PERU!!

Born on 8 Oktober 1964. At the age of 15 he started with the Korg MS-20 synthesizer and a SQ-10 sequencer. On these machines he learned how to program synthesizers and they inspired him to compose music.

He did study also electronic organ and b.t.w. loves Bach....

Through groups like Tangerine Dream, Kraftwerk and artist like J.M.

Jarre, Giorgio Morroder, Vangelis and Klaus Schulze he started making electronic music, also at the age of 15.

Besides being a Christianity music Artist (two number one hits in European countries and several CD's) he became a well known sound designer. His taste of music is wide, very wide... in fact he simply loves good music, from Bach to Lenny Kravitz, HipHop, RnB, from Depeche Mode to James Brown. This wide taste does reflect very much in his sound products.

Broekhuis-Keller-Schönwälder.

For years a solid base in the Electronic and "Berliner Schule" style of music. Inspired by Klaus Schulze, Tangerine Dream and Vangelis they have managed to develop their own style of Electronic Music, with Trance and Ambient influences and their way to perform that on stage. They where high on the request list of many who mailed me their favorites.

The other acts will be announced in the coming weeks!

The web page still shows E-Day 2019 but we will start changing this week!

Reviews =====

gr-269 Concept Devices - Conceptus Fabrica

Concept Devices - "Conceptus Fabrica" is progressive, experimental, sometimes glitchy, rhythmic ambient electronica at it's best. It gives you a unique and satisfying listening experience of analogue sound and rhythms, full of effects that build and morph taking you to places that your mind never knew existed. The music of Martyn Greenwood (aka 'Analogue Kid') has certainly improved through experience and experiments. His latest incarnation as 'Concept Devices' has taken his music to new heights with an impressive level of skill to produce this wonderful album with a high standard of music, and masterful production, and great CD art and packaging. Don't miss your chance to buy this essential purchase.

Review by Geoff Mason.

===== Reviews =====

33973 - Altair - Ian Boddy

DiN label boss Ian Boddy has been performing his own brand of ambient electronica since 1979. Over those 40 years he has built up a wealth of experience of what works in a live environment as well as being able to tailor his shows to the particular setting he finds himself in. As well as playing all over the UK and in Germany & The Netherlands he has also crossed the Atlantic several times to play shows in Philadelphia. The main reason for the latter destination is the wonderful community of listeners built up by Chuck van Zyl at The Gatherings series of concerts which provides a dedicated fan base for Boddy's style of electronic music. Chuck is also the host of the excellent Star's End Radio show on WXPN in Philadelphia and Boddy has often combined these concert trips with live radio shows for both Star's End as well as Echoes Radio hosted by John Diliberto.

Thus 2018 ushered in a fresh adventure for Boddy with a new invitation to play at The Gatherings. His past performances have found their way on to releases such as Shrouded (his 2000 show) and React (DiN29) with Robert Rich. Several of his Star's End live sets have also been released on DiNDDL as download only albums. However the trip in 2018 produced what is in Boddy's opinion, his best pair of performances to date and so he has decided to release a double live album to showcase this trip. The first disc documents his Gatherings show on the evening of 20th October in the beautiful St. Mary's Church in Philadelphia whereas the second disc is his live radio show on Star's End performed at 2am on the Sunday morning immediately after his Gatherings show.

The music on The Gatherings disc features some tracks from his previous studio album As Above So Below (DiN51) as well as new material composed specifically for this concert. Boddy performed the show playing analogue keyboards and a modular set up borrowed over in the USA alongside Ableton Live laptop work. Muscular analogue sequenced grooves are overlaid with atmospheric beds of FX as well as grandiose sweeping chords. The music gradually building up to the climax of the track The Thaumaturge from his As Above So Below album for which the audience certainly show their appreciation.

The second disc from the Star's End show is a more introspective set with atmospheric string interludes over deep ambient soundscapes. The music gradually crystallises into a delicate sequencer on Spire before the full Berlin School sequencer work out of Apostasy. Full of haunting tones the final track Remnants closes the set which works as a perfect companion disc to the earlier Gatherings concert.

Altair thus shows Boddy at the height of his powers playing two very different concerts within a few hours of each other in very different venues. Produced in a beautiful fold out 6 panel digipak this double CD album is a must for both Boddy fans as well as lovers of live electronic music.
